

THE WORLD'S LATEST NEWS CAUGHT BY THE CAMERA

Violet and Daisy Hilton, 16-year-old San Antonio, Texas, girls are successors to the late Siamese twins. Their bodies are joined together at the base of the spine, as were the bodies of Rosa and Julia Hozek, who died recently in Chicago. The youthful twins move with astonishing rapidity and love to play outdoors.

"Hang your clothes on a hickory tree, but—" Ah, I wish it. But anyway those must have been the instructions which went with this bathing suit. Best honest-to-goodness swimmers on the Pacific coast are fairly against the stage and screen beauties, who lounge along the beaches in suits never meant for the water. Beach bounds seem to favor the sand hounds, as the dry land swimmers are called. Perhaps that's why the others are peeved.

Harry Channon, well-known Chicago clubman who, it is said, is in no small way responsible for the many canceled wedding engagements between Mary Landon Baker and Allister McCormick of Chicago. Miss Baker, McCormick and Harry Channon are all in Paris.

Frederick (Kid) Wodge, former prizefighter and lumberjack, who after attaining a college degree in the west and who made his way to Cambridge in box cars and automobiles all the way from Arizona, to enter Harvard university, has been obliged to leave the university, illness is said to be the cause.

This is Harry K. Eustace, hunter of African big game and explorer of world-wide reputation, who has returned to the United States after spending years in darkest Africa. He says that he would rather hunt lions and tigers than face the traffic of some of our larger cities.

Helen Hicks, 5-year-old Guthrie, Okla., girl, is in Washington to ask President Harding to free her father, serving a federal prison term at Atlanta for violation of the war-time espionage act. She is one of a group of children who accompanied Mrs. Kate Richards O'Hare to the nation's capital in an effort to gain amnesty for 114 "political prisoners."

Miss Jocelyn Leigh, former "Follies" beauty, has been married in Los Angeles to Henry Lehman, famed film director. Lehman was to have married Virginia Rappe, for whose death Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle was tried for manslaughter.

Fifteen-year-old Victoria Gilpin of New York, moved Ventnor, for many years ballet master at the Russian court, to enthusiasm when she appeared in her first public performance at Carnegie hall. Her keen interpretation of dances, declared critics, bids fair to make her "another Pavlova."

When it comes to catching rats the famous "Pied Piper of Hamelin town" must get out of the spotlight for two Nashville women. Miss Anna Mae Wright and Mrs. D. M. Staples don't use pipes but nevertheless they make their living exterminating rodents.

A far-reaching maternal complex has this hen, owned by Mrs. Maud Switzer of Oakley, Ohio. When the "lady of the house" failed to provide the mother hen with eggs to sit on, she asserted her right to "mother" something and immediately adopted a litter of fox terrier puppies. Since adopting the canine "mother hen" has indignantly thwarted the incursions of the rightful mother into her domain.

Raymond Hitchcock, famous comedian, rode this Masonic goat and then embraced it for "going easy." The goat-riding stunt of the noted laugh-maker was for the purpose of advertising a Masonic benefit performance in New York.

This mosaic, representing 12 years of arduous labor, contains 4,000 pieces of glass. It is two feet square and was made by Abraham Schayer of Cincinnati. The masterpiece contains designs of the American eagle and 13 stars, the lion and the lamb, the ark of the covenant and other Biblical incidents.

Willetta Huggins, 17, deaf and dumb inmate of the Wisconsin school for the blind, astonished 500 members of the Chicago Medical society by using her finger-tips as eyes and ears. She can hear perfectly through vibration, read newspapers by rubbing her fingers over the sheets, and distinguish colors by the same method. Miss Huggins is a rival of Helen Keller.

Gloria Swanson stops making "Her Gilded Cage" long enough to pose for Hal Probascio.

Helen Lee Worthing, famous stage beauty, is seriously ill after taking bicarbonate of mercury tablets in mistake for aspirin.

Killed by Albert of Belgium for heroic war work, Miss Reiterman, daughter of Justice Silverman of Belgian supreme court, will become the bride of Henry W. Farnham, Jr., son of Professor Farnham of Yale. The marriage will take place in Brussels this summer.

Maxine Brown, said by President Harding to be the "prettiest bride in the world," will represent Marshal Joffe, hero of the Marne, a miniature of the Statue of Liberty.

Costumed in khaki male attire, the co-ed babe has been arrested in Chicago. And she has been released, because she proved to be Miss Reiterman, daughter of Ben L. Reiterman, known as a famous leader of hoboes. Miss Reiterman was about to finish her third year in the Missouri school of journalism and was "riding the blinds" in order to get material for short stories.

The pedigree of this rooster, "California Bob Junior," would be treasured by almost any human being. As a fighter, the fowl has a remarkable record. He's king of his own barnyard. Owned by E. D. Hegan of Petaluma, Cal., the rooster is valued at $1,250.
